MRS. McCASLIN ENTERTAINS.

Ladies of Live Oak Take Tea at The Ladies' Emporium and Are Delightfully Entertained.

The Ladies' Emporium presented a beautiful and tasty arrangement yesterday as the results of the preparations made by that popular store for the entertainment of their lady customers who were invited to take tea there and meet Mrs. McCaslin, of New York, who has charge of the ready-to-wear department. Much has been said about Mrs. McCaslin's coming and since her arrival she has shown her high qualifications for the work, and the management of the Emporium is more than pleased with the great improvements and new features introduced since she has taken charge.

The Democrat reporter called yesterday at the Emporium and was shown through the ready-to-wear department. It would be expressing it but mildly to say that the reporter was surprised, and pleasantly so.
 Mrs. McCaslin is a most charming entertainer, pleasant and instructive in conversation, showing her complete and easy mastery of her art. A tea table, daintily spread, occupied a cozy corner in the room upstairs and Mrs. McCaslin was serving tea to the ladies as they discussed the newest creations in dress.
 After tea the guests were shown all the large stock of ladies' skirts, waists and suits, which by the way is the largest of its kind in the South. While many of the pretty things were new and strange to the Democrat man, Mrs. McCaslin and the proprietor, Mr. Harvard, made the visit so pleasant by their careful explanations that he was loth to take his leave. It required no experience eye to tell that the stock was a large and very costly one. We were informed that Mr. Harvard has gone to an enormous expense to bring these beautiful goods direct from the most fashionable New York dealers to Live Oak. Before leaving New York, Mrs. McCaslin was wired "carte blanche," by Mr. Harvard, to use her own pleasure and judgment in selecting the stock which has now arrived and has been tastefully arranged to the very best advantage by Mrs. McCaslin. In fact the entire store has a new appearance. Some of the pretty articles of dress which at once attracted our attention were the beautiful Louisine silk waists with costly lace insertion, ladies' jumper suits in plaid silks, Scotch clan plaids, skirts and suits of French flannel, waists of fine flannels in Roman stripe effects, and so many other beautiful things that we lost count. In the cloak department we were attracted by the new automobile coats with leather collars and cuffs, which had a warm and comfortable as well as nobby appearance.

The number of ladies present during the afternoon was most gratifying to both Mr. Harvard and Mrs.
 McCaslin and showed the decided popularity this store is maintaining.
 Mr. Harvard deserves great credit for the efforts he has made and is making to give the ladies of Live Oak the very best possible opportunity in making selections for dress which are equal to that furnished them if they could make their selections in New York.

We should not complete this article without saying also that Mrs. McCaslin has won her way into the affections of the ladies here by her gentle, charming manner and at once placed herself in friendly touch with all the patrons of the store, richly deserving its name, "The Ladies' Emporium."

Prof. Edwards and party of teachers from this city who went to Jasper Saturday to attend the Tri-County Teachers' Institute, were delighted with their trip. They met with cordial hospitality and were received by the citizens of Jasper and entertained as the guests of the city. The meeting of the Tri-County Institute, while not so largely attended as had been hoped, was nevertheless a success and profitable to all who attended. In Jasper Monday is the regular school holiday instead of Saturday, and so our visiting teachers found the Jasper Normal Institute in session and, being shown through the school by Prof. Lynch, the accomplished and efficient principal, they were much pleased to witness some of the excellent work done there during the brief opportunity afforded them.
